

Contact: Doug Rollins
Email: drollins@chateauelan.com

WEDDING BELLS RING YEAR-ROUND AT CHÂTEAU ÉLAN

BRASELTON, GA JANUARY 5, 2009--Wedding ceremonies, elopements, renewing vows, and luxurious honeymoons have always been a centerpiece of Château Élan's mystique. Hundreds of couples from Georgia, across the country and from around the globe, captivated by this unique setting, gravitate annually to Chateau Élan.

Chateau Élan is a luxurious, 3,500 acre destination just north of Atlanta whose lush vineyards surrounding a 16th century style French chateau evokes images of the Loire Valley of France where you can't help but succumb to that ultra-relaxing, quixotic, romantic mode. In addition, Chateau Élan has all the wonderful amenities that wedding couples and their guests could ask for. These include a Four Diamond, 277 room Inn, Winery Tours & Tastings, 63 holes of Championship Golf, seven distinctive restaurants, a popular Culinary Studio and Cooking School, and a 33,000 sq.ft. European Spa Mansion with 14 guest suites, 35 treatment rooms, a spa chef and lovely dining room overlooking a small lake.

The NBC-TV "Today Show" on Valentines Day 2008 selected Chateau Élan as "One of the top four romantic destinations for couples in North America that won't break your bank." The widely respected citysearch.com named Chateau Élan as the not only the "Most Romantic Hotel in Atlanta," but among the "Best in America." Atlanta magazine named Chateau Élan as the "Best place in Atlanta to propose." With those kinds of endorsements it is easy to see why Chateau Élan occupies its lofty niche among the world's great wedding destinations.

But having the greatest physical facilities for weddings is only one half the games. When it comes to weddings, Chateau Élan is a unique sense of place, staffed by experienced professionals that set them apart in their guest service standards and attention to detail.

Two of Chateau Élan's catering managers, Maureen Storm, and Drew Tull focus on weddings. Both display the expertise, ingenuity, and the resources to ensure all the elements leading up to the event, and the wedding day itself will run absolutely flawless. They understand that couples have a lot to think about in planning their wedding-- things that reflect their taste as a couple, their distinctive style and of course a budget. Chateau Élan has an array of other services, including, but not just limited to transportation, extra floral displays, wedding cake specialists, and entertainment.

“Our goal is to ensure your wedding and rehearsal dinner will have all of the care, services, and amenities that will fulfill your most romantic dreams. Together with our banquet managers we will coordinate and guide you through your wedding planning, advise you on menus and bar options, and even arrange a special group rate for accommodations and activities for your out-of-town guests,” said Maureen.

Thoughtful, professional managers like Maureen and Drew, seamless service, superb dining, catering, and attention to detail have continued to make Chateau Élan one of the most attractive destinations for weddings and related ceremonies in America. For more information call 678-425-0900 or visit www.chateauelan.com